THE GARDEN

If farm lands are too scarce, why not practice more and cultivate less? If you have never had a pint of fruit, then try to arrange to grow some. They are certainly the best things.

Intensified farming there is much to be learned. It is not a matter of doing more, but of doing better. It is a matter of doing things that will pay.

There is only one craft that always pays, and that is grafting fruit trees. Many men have tried other kinds and in the end have found that it did not pay.

The old sawdust mill evidently came to the conclusion that the daily interest was not worth the trouble and expense, and proposed to keep going, but just where it belongs.

The garden is a beautiful source of health. It is the home of the family, and the family garden is not more than a few acres. It is a place where the family can find health and happiness.

When you grow along the roadside and see the trees of wood attached to the lower edge of the tree, fence, etc., it is a sign that a tree ought to be cut or have a better fence or quit the money business.

It has been observed several times that the man who drives a skiny poor horse usually carries a whip. It is such a man would be as free with food as they are with their whip. They probably would have better horses.

It is not enough to test the soil, but to test the soil thoroughly. The plants should be tested. The plants should be tested. The plants should be tested.

It is a most dangerous practice for a boy or any other person to stand immediately behind a horse that is hauling up the hay fork loaded with a big load of hay. It is a dangerous practice.

As a breaking of a shingle, before the load has reached the carrier, there is liable to be an accident. It is a dangerous practice.

The owner of one hundred dollars land is to be commended when he changes his management from a grain producer to a stock grower. It is a good thing to do.

ENGLISH RAIL WRECK

Train Plunges from Track When Hunting at High Speed—Tourists Just Landed Hurled to Horrible Execution—Bodies Mangled.

In the most appalling railroad disaster known in England in the last twenty-five years, twenty-three out of forty-seven American passengers who had landed at Plymouth from the steamship New York, late Sunday night, were instantly killed at Salisbury about 2 o'clock Monday morning as the flying express train, which was rushing them from that town to London was demolished in a collision. Almost every one of the remaining twenty-four passengers from the United States was injured seriously. The total casualties numbered twenty-eight and several of the injured are expected to die.

The train had passed the Salisbury station platform at high speed. At a sharp curve just outside the station the locomotive jumped the track and plunging up the rails, crashed into a wall, demolishing the bridge. The engine went over the bridge and the train followed. There were three passenger coaches in the train. The first of these coaches, which was the dining car, was completely demolished. The second and third passenger coaches were crushed over on the time and completely destroyed.

The ill-fated train was known as the "Great Southern." It was on the London and Southampton Railway as a direct express with an average speed of more than sixty miles an hour between London and Salisbury. It was a train of the highest class, and was equipped with the latest and most modern appliances. It was a train of the highest class, and was equipped with the latest and most modern appliances.

WASHINGTON GOSSIP

During the last fiscal year there were 8,838 desertions from the United States army, an increase of 900 over the preceding year, and amounting to 11.07 per cent of the entire enlisted strength. That is to say, of every nine soldiers enlisted, one deserted.

The government has found it necessary to issue a warning to the public against persons who represent themselves as agents and emissaries for the purpose of the Geological Survey. As is generally known, they are for the most part, they are not only not accurately drawn, but are on a large scale. They are sold by the government for five cents a sheet. It should be noted, however, that the government does not authorize certain bookkeepers and stationers to sell the atlas sheets at a slight advance over the government price, to pay them for the trouble of keeping and handling them.

The Interstate Commerce Commission has extended its inquiry to include all the railroads in the country. Circular letters were sent Wednesday to the officers of 848 companies, operating 21,040 miles of railroads, calling for information to be furnished before July 15. President Cassatt and the coal roads are to have a full opportunity to be heard. The Pennsylvania committee has public the answers of Cassatt, the president of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

The greater part of the business of the United States Supreme Court consists in deciding cases on appeal from the lower courts. Over some cases it has original and exclusive jurisdiction, and over some cases it has appellate jurisdiction. The court is composed of nine justices, and the chief justice is the head of the court.

The number of excluded immigrants in the United States has been estimated at 1,000,000. This is a large number, and it is a serious problem for the United States. The government is trying to solve this problem, but it is a difficult task.

ARMOUR SPEAKS OUT

Chicago, Paucker Refers to Current Criticism as Unjustifiable. J. Ogden Armour, who arrived in New York Tuesday with his wife and daughter after a season in Europe, had much to say in defense of the meat packing industry and of its critics. In a word, he denounced the attacks as scandalous and unfair, and with reference to the corporation of Armour & Co., he said it had spent an average of $700,000 a year for the last five years in the extension and improvement of its plant at the stock yards. Mr. Armour said:

"The entire export trade of this country has been badly damaged. To estimate the total loss now would be merely guess work. It may run into hundreds of millions. When the American industry is at it and has been and the attitude of the large packers toward the proposed legislation. The inspection now in force in all of the larger packing houses makes the sale of diseased meats from such houses impossible. The government, which is responsible for the people's health, has failed to do the facts about it."

"The large packers believe in government inspection. They asked for it in the first place. They want it continued and improved. If it can be improved, certain minor features of the proposed legislation, as first presented, were objected to by persons who had not any knowledge of or regard for the practical side of any business. But I believe all of the large packers heartily favor the purpose which the pending bill is intended to accomplish—namely:

"Thorough inspection of all animals before slaughter. Thorough inspection of all animals before slaughter. Thorough inspection of all animals before slaughter. Thorough inspection of all animals before slaughter. Thorough inspection of all animals before slaughter."

A State Federation of Labor is being formed in Maryland. Farmers of Michigan are being organized into labor unions. Paenodora (Cal.) unionists contemplate the erection of a labor temple. Trades unionists of Galesburg, Ill., are deeply interested in a labor temple project.

Journeymen blacksmiths' total membership is now more than 7,500 and steadily growing. Hebrew paperhangers of Boston, Mass., have formed an independent union of their own. A new organization of sheet metal workers has been established at Newport News, Va.

The Wisconsin State Federation of Labor will mail literature to the farmers explaining unionism. Boston (Mass.) carriage and wagon workers lost their strike through lack of a sufficient defense fund. Chicago (Ill.) Federation of Musicians has appointed a committee to obtain a location for a musicians' club.

Another great strike of miners has occurred in the South Wales coal fields against the employment of non-union men. Complaint has come to Gov. Folk to the effect that many children under 14 years of age are working in factories in St. Louis. Beer and Shoe Workers' Union general officers have recommended that women auxiliaries be formed by the various locals.

The Industrial Workers of the World are now engaged in a bitter war with electricians' and machinists' unions of Chicago, Ill. The new Iowa child labor law prohibits the employment of children under 14 years of age in any occupation injurious to their health.

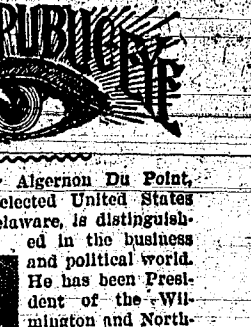

The German-American International Union has paid $2,201,295.43 in sick and $1,514,255.90 in death benefits during the last 25 years. Boston general truck drivers have reached an agreement with the Master Truckers' Association, which calls for a raise of $1 a week. In all probability a new political party will be launched in St. Paul, Minn. This fall as a result of a meeting of trades unionists held to discuss the matter.

Colonel Henry Algeron Du Pont, who has been elected United States Senator from Delaware, is distinguished in the business and political world. He has been President of the Wilmington and Northern railroad, is now director of the Reading, and is principal owner of the famous DuPont Powder Works, Colonel DuPont, who is a descendant of HENRY A. DU PONT, an old French family, was born in 1838, and in 1861 was graduated at the head of his class in the West Point Military Academy. He fought with distinction in the civil war, receiving a congressional medal of honor, but in 1874 resigned from the army. In 1895, after a long legislative career, he was chosen United States Senator, but the Democrats protested and the matter went for settlement to the United States Senate, where the Committee on Elections decided in his favor, but later by a strict party majority of one the Senate declined to seat him. Colonel DuPont would have been elected at the last session of the legislature had it not been for the compromise position taken by the two factions which eliminated both DuPont and Addicks. He has represented his party many times in Republican national conventions and has been honored with positions on important committees.

The new President of the Russian Empire, M. Murozov, is a celebrated professor of the Russian right, who abandoned his post in 1884, when the new reactionary statute of the Moscow University was published. M. Murozov devoted himself since that date to the profession of law and has distinguished himself in the most brilliant way. Many of the most difficult trials were submitted to his consideration and many of his interpretations of the law are used by the Senate. Sergeyev Andreevich Murozov is respected by the students and highly respected by all the friends of liberty. He enjoys the reputation of a most honest, although he has many enemies among the baristers, envious of his big revenues (about $50,000 yearly). M. Murozov belongs to a very noble family, but has a sincere aversion to the privileges of birth.

Norman E. Mack, Democratic national committeeman for New York, is said to put butter on his pie. Congressman Robert Adams, of Pennsylvania, who committed suicide in Washington, was one of the best dressed men in Congress, and was noted for his aristocratic bearing. He was a member of an old Philadelphia family, was born in 1849 and received his education in the University of Pennsylvania. Under President Harrison he was minister to Brazil, and he was chairman of the House Committee on Foreign Affairs when war was declared against Spain in 1898. Mr. Adams was conspicuous in social and club affairs and was very popular in his circle. He was a bachelor, and for this reason was chaffed good naturedly when he advocated the whipping post for wife beaters.

Mark Twain is fond of collecting odd literary poetry, and has a scrap book, which he is extremely proud of, containing 8,000 specimens. Henry Louis Reginald De Koven, who is now in a sanitarium at Claremont, is the Hudson-Hudson is famous as a composer and is the founder of the Washington Symphony Orchestra. Mr. De Koven was born at Middletown, Conn., in 1831, and was graduated from Oxford University in 1850. He studied music at Stuttgart, Florence, Paris and Vienna, and upon his return to his return to the United States served as musical critic on various New York publications. In 1884 he married Anna Farwell, daughter of the late Charles B. Farwell of Chicago, who was United States Senator from Illinois.

Prof. Lombroso, the Italian criminologist, when asked to put on evening clothes, does a double-skip. His indifference to money is proverbial. When he goes out he puts bank notes in the same pocket with his handkerchiefs, and when he draws out the latter the bank notes are lost. As an interesting memento of bygone days John Ward, labor M. P. for Stoke-on-Trent, still keeps in the back yard of his house at Wadsworth the old pick with which he once worked as a navvy.

Henry Labouchere was in a more than usually savage mood when he penned the following to a certain number of London "Truth" Society, a combination of men and women, who condemn themselves at the expense of their transgressions that they may overeat themselves at the expense of their friends.

Miss Helen Johnson, one of our graduates, took the train Friday for Big Rapids, where she will take the teachers course this summer.

Mrs. S. Phelps is enjoying another streak of joy. Her mother, Mrs. J. J. Coventry is here for a good visit with her, and old friends.

F. Narrin has gone for his spring vacation, Detroit and Holly. He will bring his wife and children home with him so he will be glad to stay here.

Mrs. G. Howell, sister of Rev. J. F. Thompson started Monday night for Detroit where she will visit her nephew a few days and then leave for Atlantic City, N. J.

Our teachers who have returned to their homes, are missed from the village. Their addresses for the present are as follows: Miss Harvey, Detroit; Miss Guild, Flushing; Miss Woodruff, Roscommon; Miss Roeder, Bay City; and Mr. Murray, Frederic.

The reception given to the seniors by the pupils of the high school Friday, June 22, proved to be a pleasant affair. About a hundred and fifty were present. Light refreshments were served after which the young people engaged in dancing till a late hour.

Robert Schrader, a resident of Cheney for many years, started last Thursday for Okemos, Ingham county where they intend making their home. Mr. and Mrs. Schrader were good neighbors and highly respected citizens. They will be sadly missed by the whole community. The best wishes of their many friends follow them.

The parents of the graduating class gave a dance in the opera house, in their honor, Saturday evening, members of the school board and other friends being present. Dancing was kept up till a late hour and the happy boys and girls went home feeling that a great deal had been done for their pleasure.

Last week another star was added to the union when President Roosevelt signed the bill admitting Oklahoma and the Indian territory as one state. The measure also provides that Arizona and New Mexico may be admitted to statehood as the state of Arizona, provided the people of the territories vote in favor of admission on the terms submitted to them by congress.

Arthur Fournier entertained the senior class with Superintendent Bradley and Principal Miss Annin. The game of "Advertisements" was played. Willard Hammond, receiving the first prize. Grace Jennings the consolation. A third prize was also presented, Arthur receiving from his father and mother an elegant gold watch and chain, presumably for good conduct during the past sixteen years.

Arthur gave to each of the guests a photograph of himself.

The report of the Prosecuting Attorney for six months ending June 30th shows 72 prosecutions with 65 convictions, seventeen of which paid $175.00 in fines besides their costs, four were discharged on payment of costs, and 20 served in the aggregate 260 days in the county jail, with five boarding at the Detroit house of correction 360 days, and 18 discharged on suspended sentence, and one on probation, in charge of the County Agent. Fifty of the cases were common drunks and disorderly of the tramp variety.

President Schürman in his commencement address to 600 Cornell graduates last week said: "A warning Christianity and a waxing mammonism are the twin specters of our age. The Ten Commandments and the Golden Rule are disregarded and in their place, for the six days of the week, is the ruthless struggle for life and the success of the strongest, the most cunning or the most highly favored whether by powers supernatural or by powers infernal. The vast majority are fatally handicapped; and goaded either by the pangs of hunger or the pricks or envy or the stings of injustice they bitterly denounce a social order in which favored classes monopolize what they deem the good things of the world. The idle rich are an excrescence in any properly organized community. The vice of the age is that men want wealth without work. 'Grafting' has been so common that the very idea of commercial has become a by-word and a reproach. We are dealing with the virus of a universal infection. The whole nation needs a new baptism of the old virtue of honesty. The love of money and the reckless pursuit of it is undermining the national character."

School Commencement.

The graduating exercises of Grayling High School which took place Thursday and Friday of last week, are to be counted among the most interesting and successful in the history of the school.

Thursday evening's program was full of interest from start to finish, after the invocation by Rev. Thompson and a selection rendered by the orchestra came the Salutatory by Goldie Pond. It was delivered in a most pleasing manner by that young lady and proved to be in all respects just what a salutatory should be. This was followed by the "Class History" by Frank Tromble, though Frank's style resembles Mark Twain more than Macaulay or Hume, the history was well written, was full of good "hits" that do not hurt and scored one for the young author.

The Oration, Impossible is Un-American by Katherine Bates was well written, well delivered and well received by the audience.

Essay "Music" by Edith Chamberlain was just what her friends would expect from that musical young lady who looks at music from the viewpoint of an artist.

Emil Hanson spoke briefly on the benefits of a business education. His oration showed that he had given that subject much thought, and the thoughts were well presented.

Miss Florence Tromble next rendered a song: "The Mission of a Rose" in her usual pleasing manner.

Arthur Fournier followed with an oration on "Graft" the masterly manner in which this subject was handled showed careful preparation on the part of the young orator. He made a number of good points and won a generous round of applause.

Olaf Johnson told all about the "Panama Canal" in a manner that suggested a great deal of research and a thorough understanding of the subject.

Grace Jennings sketched in brief the life of Susan B. Anthony. While some were not able to hear all of it on account of the low tone in which it was read, those who did pronounced it one of the best efforts of the evening.

Gottie Kraus in talking of "The Man of the Hour" utterly forgot himself, rose supreme to the occasion and handled his subject in such a clear and forcible manner as to win hearty applause from his audience.

Essay "History" by Helen Johnson showed the same careful consideration to details that has characterized all of her school work, and was well liked by all.

Victor Brown in witcher cap and gown read the palms of each member of the class, and was a very acceptable "Class Prophet" in as much as he seemed to prophecy just what each one wished for most.

The Class Poem written by Beale Ayers after the style of the Old Oaken Bucket was fine and elicited much applause.

To Otto Johnson fell the sad duty of willing away the precious possession of the Class of 1906 to their successors, this he did in very appropriate legal phraseology.

To Willard Hammond, by virtue of his position in his class, came the "pleasure" and "pain" of saying those last words. "He took the matter seriously as it should be. His parting words to his classmates were especially fine and they will do well to cherish these words and act upon them."

Friday evening a large audience gathered to listen to the Hon. Washington Gardner, who spoke on the subject pertaining to the welfare of our public schools. As a prelude to the address the orchestra rendered some fine selections, and Mrs. Osborn sang "Shadows" and "I Love You," in her well-known charming way. After the address came the presentation of diplomas which was done by Director M. A. Bates with his usual grace and dignity.

After the benediction by Rev. Pitmeier, the large audience dispersed feeling that the Class of 1906 had written for themselves a brilliant page in Grayling school history, and many were the good wishes sent out from warm hearts for the welfare of the boys and girls of the Class of 1906.

A True Elephant Story.

All elephant trainers will tell you that it is one thing to have an "educated elephant;" on your hands, and quite another to make him show college training. As is well known through circusdom, all highly trained managerie animals come from Germany, likewise the finest animal trainers for their skill and patience is always rewarded by enormous salaries when their students have graduated in the first class of any animal college. Americans are acknowledged as supreme in daring parachute air flying, etc., but to the stolid, steady German belongs the palm for real subjugation of the wild beasts of the forest.

Several weeks ago, by cable, the Van Amburg Shows were offered "the best trained elephant in the world," and it was suggested an immediate reply would be advisable, as others were negotiating for the wonderful pachyderm. Always on the lookout for any feature that could strengthen the already well-behaved performing herd of elephants, the director-general at once cabled the shipment of this new marvel, and a week ago "Kaiser" trumpeted his respects to the managerie in winter quarters. After a few days rest the wonder was tried out by one of the trainers, and alas, alack, there was nothing doing. He was the most confidential elephant they had ever seen. The trainers were in despair for the great beast could not or would not understand them, so they reported to the management that "Kaiser" would give no performance, but seemed to be actually growing more and more vicious every day. This is one of the dilemmas of show life. The first inclination was to ship the elephant back to the Fatherland, when the happy thought struck the management: "Where is Herman Webber? He is the real conqueror, for the elephant is certainly intelligent enough, and in all probability has been trained in German."

Webber reached the winter quarters and immediately asked for some cinnamon cake, and, handing Kaiser a chunk, the elephant at once looked pleased and grateful, and, making a low bow to the German trainer, threw up his trunk for more. Then the trainer spoke in German, and with words of command the huge beast did everything in the elephant category, and now Prof. Ferris is studying up a plan whether to teach him all over again in English, or make a German elephant school out of the rest of the herd.

A New Version.

"Give an account of the life of Hannibal?" was one of the questions in an examination of the eighth-grade pupils recently.

"Hannibal," wrote one youngster, was one of the patriots of the Revolution and led an African regiment in the battle of San Juan Hill. He helped to write the Constitution and by Laws and fought a twenty-round draw with Aaron Burr. He afterward built the Hannibal and St. Joe Railroad, but he fled a poor man because Napoleon Gato beat him out of it." Woman's Home Companion for July.

THE TEST IS BEST

Go over CLOTHCRAFT garments point by point, the fabrics, the patterns, the graceful lines, the lay of the collar, the shaped shoulders, the trimmings, the finish, the faultlessness of the general ensemble and you will not wonder then at the giant strides CLOTHCRAFT has made in the clothing world.

The sooner you learn why you should wear this famous make, the sooner you begin to save, and the sooner you discover that every builder and wearer of good clothes can learn something in clothes craft from CLOTHCRAFT.

We can sell "all wool" without a blush because the best woolen mills in the land know too well that they dare not submit a yard of questionable cloth to go into CLOTHCRAFT garments—that's clothing insurance for you.

CLOTHCRAFT is not merely a high grade distinguishing mark, but a name that has made a mark in tailoring triumph; it means service—protection: ask for CLOTHCRAFT CLOTHES and be sure you're safe.

Suppose you step in and test your senses of sight and touch, we fear not your verdict.
